Personal, Social, Health and Economic (PSHE) education is a school subject through which pupils develop the knowledge, skills and attributes they need to manage their lives, now and in the future. It helps children and young people to stay healthy and safe, while preparing them to make the most of life and work. When taught well, PSHE education also helps pupils to achieve their academic potential.

PSHE Curriculum Intent

At Willow Tree Academy, PSHE is at the core of what we do and is central to our mission statement: 'engaging hearts and minds in the joy of learning'. Through our holistic approach to PSHE, we endeavour to support our children to become independent, healthy, confident and responsible members of society. Embedded within our focus four priority areas, we teach PSHE following the national curriculum and our bespoke scheme of work which ensures we aim to support children intellectually, socially, morally and spiritually.

The 2014 National Curriculum for PSHE aims to ensure that:

- British Values are promoted and understood by all.
- We develop children's and young people's understanding of how to stay healthy and safe, while preparing them to make the most of life and work.
- We develop the knowledge, skills and attributes children need to manage their lives, now and in the future.
